

A detailed botanical line drawing in a light brown color. The illustration features a lotus flower in full bloom at the bottom, with multiple layers of petals and a visible stamen. Above it is a large, rounded seed pod (receptacle) with a small, developing flower at the top. To the right, there is a closed flower bud. The background is filled with various lotus leaves and stems, some with small buds, creating a sense of a thriving aquatic plant. The overall style is elegant and minimalist, focusing on the natural forms and textures of the lotus.
